

Cheri Drysdale, ATC of Princeton University, Princeton, NJ and Phil Hossler, ATC of East Brunswick High School, East Brunswick, NJ received awards and were recognized by the American Heart Association as American Heartsavers on February 3, 2004. That day was declared American Heartsaver Day across the nation. Cheri was recognized for her life-saving efforts on a relative of one Princeton's girls basketball players at an away game. Cheri was responsible for administering CPR which saved the man's life. Phil was recognized for his efforts in his school district and as chairman of East Brunswick Township mayor's committee to obtain life saving automated external defibrillators throughout the township