It was a crazy first day as President of the ATSNJ. For those of you able to attend the conference, thank you. Please visit our website for a picture presentation of the conference, which is placed in the media gallery of our members only section.

I would like to begin by thanking our past president, Robb Rehberg on his outstanding efforts of the past two years. I would like to share with you my state of society speech while also adding in a few of the happenings since I became president on March 2, 2009.

I am truly humbled to be the 18th president of the Athletic Trainers’ Society of New Jersey. Like many of you, I am passionate about our profession. It is with great honor, that I begin serving the members of the profession that I love so much. I am grateful to each of you for the opportunity you have bestowed upon me. As many of you may or may not know, I have been a close friend and colleague of Robb Rehberg for many of years. I thank Robb for his leadership and service to our society, his attention to every small detail and his countless hours of sacrifice and work. The amount of time spent by Robb on phone calls, e-mails, meetings, and document reviews is a testament to his love for our profession. This society owes a debt of gratitude to Robb for the accomplishments of the society under his watch as president. I know I have some extremely large shoes to fill but to Robb’s credit he began the transition for me to be president two years ago and I have learned so much from him these past two years. For that I say, thank you my good friend, and I’m glad I still have you around for advice as the past president the next two years.

Taking a trust onto our students and younger membership has been something that athletic trainers have been doing for decades. We have working and trusting them as they prepare for our profession and as they become young professionals and our colleagues. We as certified athletic trainers have been mentors to this students and young professionals.

As I begin to serve as your president, I am inclined to thank a few people who trusted and mentored me. Charlie Thompson, thank you for the mentorship at Penn State in the early nineties that continues today. David Middlemas, for bringing me to New Jersey and our continued professional interaction. John Davis, for getting me involved at the right level and fostering my involvement to what it is today.

We remain young as a society yet we are stronger than ever. Our conference remains a success both with pre-registration totals, sponsors and exhibitors despite these hard economic times. Our golf outing is extremely successful, generating revenue for many great causes. The Governmental Relations Committee continues to monitor any legislative activities that may have an effect on our profession. The secondary school committee will have its third annual student aide workshop this year. The newly formed Student Committee is fostering ideas and leadership virtues that show that the FUTURE of the ATSNJ leadership can be and will be bright.

In reaffirming the greatness of our society, we must understand that greatness is not given. It must be earned! The journey, which began in a New Jersey Kitchen in January of 1976, has never been one of short-cuts or settling for less. It has NOT been based on those NOT willing to put in countless hours of dedicated service or those seeking fame and wealth. Rather it was based on a strong core of athletic training visionaries who envisioned regulation that would technically make legal the role of the athletic trainer in New Jersey. With this, came the idea of our professional organization to bring together those athletic trainers in the State to solidify a common front. Some of these men who deserve thanks are Joe Camillo, Dick Malacre and Phil Hossler. As time has passed other leaders in our profession like Dave Csillan, Chuck Whedon, Tim Sensor and John Davis continued to help the ATSNJ prosper as they successfully amended our practice act to change our credential from registration to licensure.

TO ALL OF YOU THANK YOU FOR YOUR LEADERSHIP AND VISION!

The next chapter, in our history was the tireless work by many members of our society that resulted in the elimination of site restriction and providing more choices for employment for athletic trainers, as well as allowing for greater consumer access for athletic training services for New Jersey residents who participate in strenuous physical activity, physical conditioning or sport. Now great hope and optimism is in place that when the rules and regulations are completed we will have endless opportunities to work in any setting. With these opportunities will come both rewards and challenges.

That brings us to the next chapter of the ATSNJ. The journey which began in 1976, must continue. The athletic training profession continues to evolve.

Think about when you see these logos: the swoosh, the orange lightning bolt and the X. You automatically know these logos stand for Nike, Gatorade and Under Armour. As we move forward during this time, it is my vision as I hope it is yours, that when the public sees the ATSNJ logo, it will have the same type of brand recognition.

A brand recognition of: Athletic Trainers are medical professionals who are experts in injury prevention, assessment, treatment and rehabilitation. To help with this we recently developed a new committee, the Technology Committee which will work on using various technologies both now and in the future to help our members and brand of our society to the community.

So what’s next in our evolution? Whether you work in a high school, college, professional, clinical or other emerging setting or you are starting your own business, the opportunities are endless.

The ATSNJ and its leadership has done an outstanding job at getting school administrators of the public school setting to understand the importance of employing an athletic trainer (as evident by our high percentage of schools that employ an athletic trainer). Now we must educate these same administrators of what that employed ATC does during their normal work day. Educate the need for even greater employment opportunities within the core of our profession.

I understand that other issues within the secondary school setting exist as well: tournament coverage and compensation, a per diem scale, cooperation with the NJSHA, wrestling skin checks, and salary guidelines and other issues are vitally important. You should know that we are sensitive to those issues and will work to address them.

In 2007, Robb spoke of the future of when the public would have greater access to the services of an athletic trainer. That future is now here, and we will be discussing how the public who has greater access to that athletic trainer can reimburse them. The reimbursement issue will affect everyone, even those not seeking reimbursement, as it will strengthen the value of our profession.

As stated throughout my speech, we need to continue to evolve as a profession and a society. We have many great leaders in our society who love our profession dearly but we need additional leaders to step to the forefront. To quote the legendary coach Vince Lombardi, "Individual commitment to a group effort - that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilization work."

If you are committed to our group effort, I urge you to please give something back to this society and the profession you love so much, to help make it work. Join myself and the other leaders of our society as we move forward in meeting the challenges of tomorrow.

ATSNJ Lends Support to New Campaign Addressing Concussion in Youth Sports

On March 30, the Brain Injury Association of New Jersey in partnership with the Mountainside Health Foundation held a press conference, immediately following an ATSNJ Northern Meeting announcing a new campaign addressing Concussion in Youth Sports in the schools and communities served by Mountainside Hospital.

The press conference consisted of speakers Jill Shulman, Senior Director of Development for the Brain Injury Association of NJ, Dr. Joseph H. Rempson, associate medical director at Overlook Hospital’s Concussion Center, Rob Rehberg, ATSNJ’s Past President, Mike Prybicen, ATSNJ’s President, and Alex Lucaci, a Senior at Summit High School. Lucaci came to give his account of a concussion he received during soccer season and how his symptoms affected his life.

Dr. Robb Rehberg, past-president of the ATSNJ addressed the media stating, "The ATSNJ commends and supports the efforts by both the Brain Injury Association of New Jersey and the Mountainside Hospital." Rehberg spoke of Congressmen Bill Pascrell’s ‘Concussion Treatment and Care Tools Act of 2009’ or the ‘ConTACT Act of 2009’. This bill introduced by Congressman Pascrell on March 5, 2009 aims to provide for the establishment and implementation of concussion management guidelines with respect to school-aged children and for other purposes.

The partnership will spend $40,000 to help 21 North Jersey schools purchase a subscription for ImPact Concussion management software. ImPact uses neuropsychological testing to create a baseline and post-concussion testing to help foster the safe return to play from a concussion. For more information, go to www.sportsconcussion.com.

ATSNJ Members Participate in MedFest

One March 25, 2009, two ATSNJ members, Regina Dain and Eric Nussbaum, served as volunteers for Medfest. Medfest is a joint program between the New Jersey Academy of Family Physicians and the Special Olympics of New Jersey. The purpose of the program is to provide pre-participation examinations to special needs children while also showing families the value of family medicine in meeting their total health care needs. As a result of MedFest, family physicians, residents and now athletic trainers are learning about caring for patients with special needs, and New Jersey has a network of medical, educational and allied health professionals to which family physicians can refer patients for specialized care and therapy.

Medfest began in 2003 under the direction of Jeffrey Zlotnick, M.D. Family physicians, residents, medical students and nurses volunteered for the first MedFest. Arranged in five stations at the Special Olympics facility, the volunteers took medical histories, blood pressures, temperatures and pulse rates. Then they conducted otolaryngological, cardiac, pulmonary and orthopedic health exams.

The medical team’s findings helped Special Olympics staff identify and, if necessary, adapt sports events for the athletes.

Dain and Nussbaum volunteered their time this year to help conduct orthopedic screenings for the athletes seeking to participate in the Special Olympics. The orthopedic screenings evaluated posture, strength, range of motion, and degree of abilities. The purpose of this screening is not to fail an athlete but to ensure that their sports participation can be adapted to their physical disability. This is a great opportunity for athletic trainers to utilize their skills and education in a different setting while helping some very special kids achieve their goals and dreams.

ATSNJ Student Committee Report

The ATSNJ Student Committee was formed in early December with two students from each of the states five programs.

Kean University is represented by Chris O’Boyle and Ngan Chung; Rowan University by Colleen Rackett and Lindsey Allerton; William Paterson University by Nicole Callaghan and Courtney Proctor-Bates; Seton Hall University by Ian Baldwin and Shawn Malysz; and Montclair State University by Anthony Andreadis and Elizabeth Piech. Dr. Dave Middlemas serves as the advisor to the student committee as well as the liaison to the executive council.

The ATSNJ Student Committee is in existence to verbalize the wants and needs of the student membership, in an effort to bring about a greater sense of community, and in effect better state wide athletic training programs. After several meetings the committee has decided to put on a Student Workshop in the fall with topics and speakers geared toward the student populations requests. The biggest event on the horizon is the Athletic Training Education BBQ/Student Olympics coming up this spring. All participants in the educational process of future athletic trainers are invited to come for a day of fun and networking.

It is the Student Committee’s hope that event like this will help to foster a sense of community with the different programs in the state. Above all the Committees first and foremost goal is to give students a place to voice their ideas and concerns. If you have any ideas, questions, or concerns about the committee or our upcoming events please contact the Anthony Andreadis the committee chair at andreadisa1@mail.montclair.edu.
SSATC Report

On December, the 11th Annual NJSCA Athletic Training Workshop at the NJSIAA Headquarters in Robbinsville, NJ again catered to a capacity crowd. J. Timothy Sensor, ATC presented “Documentation-Scope of Practice” while other speakers provided the non-traditional topics of “D.A.R.E. Counseling” and “Crisis Counseling”.

The SSATC is busy at work on the 3rd Annual Athletic Training Student Aide (ATSA) Workshop. This year, William Pater-son University will be hosting the workshop on May, 27. As of the April 1 registration deadline, the workshop reached the maximum participants limit. The theme is “Foot and Ankle” and the format will have ATSA’s attending lectures in addition to hands-on taping breakout sessions. As always, the goal is NOT to have the ATSA walk out working as an athletic trainer, but rather spark an interest in the profession.

Kudos to Tanya Dargusch, ATC from Washington Township High School. She was this year’s inductee into the NJSCA Coaches’ Hall of Fame. Also, recognition goes out to Eric Schwartz for being the recipient of the NJSIAA Service Award.

Over the years, there have been questions and concerns regarding compensation for “Athletic Training Independent Contractors”. For this reason, the SSATC is in the process of developing guidelines to be used when we are approached to work an event and the event director asks “What is your rate”? You will be kept abreast of their development as we go along. If you have any questions or concerns, please email Dave Csillan, Secondary School Committee Chairperson at: dcsillan@ewingboe.org

News from Seton Hall

On March 20, 2009, the Seton Hall University Athletic Training Student Association hosted a workshop for high school students interested in athletic training. The event included presentations from Carolyn Goecel, MA, ATC, Chair of the SHU Athletic Training Department, Chris Ryan, ATC, CSCS, of Drew University and Meg Berry, ATC, CSCS, from Union High School. In addition, the SHU athletic training students ran four hands-on stations that included taping, spineboarding, heat/cold and anatomy of injuries. Over 30 high school students attended the event along with five clinical instructors (certified ATCs) associated with the AT education program. This student-run event is held annually in order to promote Athletic Training Month.

Vicci Hill-Lombardi, EdD, ATC, Associate Professor in the School of Health and Medical Sciences at Seton Hall University presented a s poster at the 2009 Combined Sections Meeting APTA, February 10-12 in Las Vegas NV. The poster title was "Influence of Menstrual Cycle on Postural Sway and Balance Response in Women 18-28" by Maher, Hill-Lombardi, Cheifitz, Nishimura, Stephens, Redavid.

Athletic training students Bobby Daplyn, Ian Baldwin, Ginie Milord, Bridget Holman, along with Dr. Vicci Hill-Lombardi, from Seton Hall University will be presenting a poster at the 2009 NATA Symposium in San Antonio, entitled "The Effect of Static Stretch Duration on the Peak Torque of the Rotator Cuff Muscles".

Burlington Student Aide Workshop

On Friday, March 27th, the Burlington County Athletic Trainers held their 18th Annual BCAT Student Aide Workshop. The theme this year was the knee. Seventy-four student aids from 9 different schools in the Burlington County region attended. Students attended a large group session covering basic knee anatomy. At the conclusion, they were dispersed into 4 groups in 4 class-rooms. Each group spent 30 minutes at breakout sessions covering: evaluations of the knee, basic rehabilitation of the knee, bracing and taping, and counseling issues in sports medicine. Fourteen Burlington County ATC’s provided the instruction and hands-on experience for the students. Following the breakout sessions, students and ATC’s enjoyed an outstanding lunch made by the Burlington County Institute of Technology Medford Campus High School Culinary Arts Program. Each student was given two t-shirts, by Nova Care Rehabilitation and Star Physical Therapy, both of Mt. Laurel, NJ. In addition, Penn Sports Medicine sponsored facility costs. Most students expressed they learned a lot and look forward to next year.
